(I) Investment Objectives and Policies

Investment objectives and strategies may vary according to each client's needs. The investment objectives, risk tolerance, and return expectations of every client are ascertained from the application form and client agreement. The portfolio is structured to align with the client's investment goals and preferences.

Vivekam Financial Services Private Limited currently offers the following discretionary portfolio management strategies:

(ii) Investment Approach I – Large Cap Growth Plus

Vivekam's primary investment approach is the Large Cap Growth Plus strategy, designed for investors seeking long-term capital growth through high-quality, large-cap stocks.

The strategy aims to achieve capital appreciation by investing in Indian companies with strong value potential. In this product, we are able to arrive at estimated (or) fair value of each stock on the NSE predominantly based on fundamentals. From the derived estimated (or) fair value of each stock, we compare with the current market price (CMP) each day and ascertain scope to grow for each stock. After shortlisting growth stocks based on fundamentals by ranking in order of decreasing scope to grow, we will have list of most suitable stocks arrived based on our rankings for each particular day.

Investment Approach:

- More than 1000 Crore market cap to avoid volume issues and for easy deployment.
- At least 30% scope to grow from current levels.
- Not more than 20% of portfolio is assigned for one industry.

Exit happens only at stock level. We shall exit when stock reaches Vivekam expected level which could be revised every quarter. Exit can also happen if performance drops drastically and is no longer in the growth list for the next quarter. Exit also happens when clients seek partial withdrawal from portfolio.

Dividends during the holding period add to the annual return. Any cash released on sale of stocks or portfolio maybe invested in eligible stocks exchange traded liquid instruments that earn daily interest until next quarter at which point funds will be deployed into highest scope to grow company.

The Large Cap Growth Plus approach is actively managed, with regular monitoring to capture growth opportunities and manage risks in changing market conditions.

Investment Approach II – Vivekam Hybrid

(a) Investment Objective

Vivekam Hybrid is a discretionary portfolio management strategy designed to generate steady, risk-adjusted returns over the medium to long term through a hybrid investment approach combining equity investments and derivative strategies.

The primary objective of the strategy is to seek annualized returns over a full market cycle through a rule-based and process-driven framework, while maintaining liquidity and effective risk management. There is no assurance or guarantee that the investment objective of the strategy will be achieved.

(b) Nature of Strategy

The Vivekam Hybrid strategy follows a hybrid structure, wherein client assets may be deployed across:

- Listed equity securities (TOP 300 Stocks in terms of Market Cap)
- Equity-linked derivative instruments (including options)
- Cash and cash equivalents, as permitted under SEBI (Portfolio Managers) Regulations, 2020

The strategy seeks to balance capital appreciation and income generation, depending on market conditions and opportunity sets identified through internal quantitative and rule-based models.

(c) Investment Philosophy and Process

The investment philosophy of Vivekam Hybrid is founded on the following principles:

- Rule-based decision making with predefined quantitative criteria
- Staggered deployment of capital to mitigate timing risk
- Periodic review and rebalancing based on market conditions and internal thresholds
- Focus on risk management and capital discipline

Derivative strategies, where used, are primarily intended for income generation and portfolio balancing and not for speculative purposes.

(d) Use of Derivative Instruments

The Portfolio Manager may use exchange-traded derivative instruments, including index options and stock options, as permitted under applicable laws, for purposes such as income generation, portfolio balancing, and risk mitigation.

Derivative positions shall be undertaken in accordance with SEBI regulations, internal risk management policies, and applicable margin requirements. The use of derivatives may result in both gains and losses and may involve leveraged exposure

6. Risk Factors

Investments under portfolio management services are subject to various risks that may affect the performance of the portfolio. The client should carefully read and understand the following risk factors before investing. The Portfolio Manager does not guarantee or assure any returns or protection of capital.

A. General Risk Factors

1. Investment in securities is subject to market risk including price fluctuation, liquidity constraints, interest-rate movements, exchange-rate variations and impact-cost risk.
2. The Portfolio Manager does not guarantee achievement of any investment objective; investors are not being offered any assured or guaranteed return.
3. Past performance of the Portfolio Manager or any of its investment approaches does not indicate future performance.
4. The name of any investment approach does not in any manner indicate its future prospects or returns.
5. Portfolios concentrated in fewer stocks or sectors tend to be more volatile than diversified portfolios.
6. Overall portfolio values may be affected by changes in political, economic or regulatory conditions, taxation, interest-rates, liquidity, settlement cycles, or closure of stock exchanges.
7. The Portfolio Manager shall act in a fiduciary capacity and endeavour to mitigate potential conflicts of interest; however, such conflicts may still arise in certain circumstances.

B. Risks Associated with Equity and Equity-Related Instruments

1. Equity and equity-related securities are inherently volatile and their prices fluctuate daily due to macro- and micro-economic factors.
2. Portfolio performance depends on the ability of the Portfolio Manager to identify and execute investment opportunities; such opportunities may not always be available or profitable.
3. Investments may be affected by trading volumes, settlement systems or market liquidity, which could delay sales or purchases of securities.
4. Concentrated exposure to a particular sector or stock may adversely impact performance if that sector or company underperforms.
5. Market movements may deviate from expectations; consequently, actual returns may differ from anticipated results.
6. Corporate actions, restatement of financials or unforeseen events may alter the valuation of portfolio holdings.

C. Risks Associated with Debt and Money-Market Securities

1. Interest-rate risk: Prices of fixed-income securities generally rise when interest rates fall and decline when rates rise. Longer-term securities are more sensitive to such changes.
2. Liquidity risk: Certain fixed-income or money-market instruments may have limited secondary-market liquidity, making them difficult to sell at fair value when required.
3. Credit risk: Issuer default or downgrades may result in loss of principal or interest. Corporate instruments carry higher credit risk than sovereign securities.
4. Re-investment risk: Cash flows from coupons or maturities may have to be reinvested at lower prevailing rates, reducing overall returns.

D. Risks Associated with Derivative Instruments

1. Derivatives are leveraged instruments and can magnify both gains and losses.
2. Execution of derivative strategies depends on accurate market forecasts; wrong assumptions may lead to losses.
3. Risks include mis-pricing, imperfect correlation with underlying assets, settlement risk, and illiquidity.
4. The use of derivatives requires robust internal controls; failure or errors in such systems may affect portfolio performance.

E. Risks Associated with Investments in Mutual Fund Schemes

1. Investments made through mutual funds are subject to the risks associated with the underlying schemes and the securities they hold.
2. NAVs of mutual funds fluctuate in response to market conditions; past performance of the fund or its sponsor does not guarantee future returns.
3. Liquidity of mutual-fund units may be constrained during periods of market stress or high redemption volumes.
4. The Portfolio Manager is not responsible for any default, negligence or non-compliance on the part of the asset-management company or the scheme.

F. Risk Arising out of Non-Diversification

Concentrated portfolios—by stock, sector, or market-capitalisation segment—may experience higher volatility. Any adverse policy change or economic downturn affecting the relevant sector or company can materially impact portfolio value. While the Portfolio Manager follows diversification guidelines, clients may specify restrictions that could increase concentration risk.

G. Risk Arising out of Investment in Associates / Related Parties

1. The Portfolio Manager or its employees may, at times, hold or trade in securities also held in client portfolios. Such situations could create potential conflicts of interest. Internal Personal Securities Transaction Guidelines are in place to mitigate these risks.
2. The Portfolio Manager may engage with its associates or group companies for execution or custodial services. All such transactions shall be conducted on an arm's-length basis and disclosed to clients in accordance with SEBI Regulations.
3. Investments, if any, in securities of related or group entities will be within the regulatory limits and on terms no less favourable to clients than those prevailing in the market.

H. Risks Specific to Hybrid and Derivative Strategies

In addition to general risks associated with portfolio management services, the Vivekam Hybrid strategy is subject to the following risks:

- Derivative instruments are leveraged and may magnify gains and losses
- Income generation from derivatives is dependent on market volatility and liquidity
- Certain strategies may limit upside participation in rising markets
- Margin requirements may require additional capital during adverse movements
- The time taken to achieve investment objectives may extend due to market conditions

Investors should carefully evaluate these risks prior to investing.

7. Nature of Expenses:

The Client shall bear all expenses, costs, fees and charges relating to portfolio management services provided by the Portfolio Manager.
